

What a Phoenix Man Thinks of Tubercleocide

THE TUBERCLECID COMPANY OF ARIZONA.

407-8 National Bank of Arizona Bldg., Phoenix, Arizona.

Phoenix, Arizona, August 21, 1911.

Gentlemen:—

I take pleasure in handing you herewith a statement of my case for public use in the hope it may be instrumental in bringing to the attention of those suffering from Tuberculosis your Tubercleocide treatment, which has proven so successful in the treatment of consumption.

My parents were both afflicted with this disease and at the age of sixteen a Tubercular sore appeared on the shin bone of my leg; this was in the Fall of 1898, and for ten years it was treated by numerous physicians. Many operations were performed on the bone of the leg and as much as a double handful of bones removed; I also used more than 120 quarts of peroxide of hydrogen in treating this trouble, but without permanent beneficial results.

In May, 1908, Tuberculosis developed in both my lungs and throat and I lost my voice entirely; Dr. Banyon, of Saybrook, Illinois, treated me, and upon medical advice I came to Phoenix, Arizona. Here apparently commenced to regain my health and my weight increased to about normal; in fact I gained eighteen or twenty pounds the first year I was in Phoenix, but like so many other sufferers from this disease, the benefit derived from the climatic change did not prove to be permanent, and in 1909-1910, I lost all that I had gained, and in fact became a wreck of my former self and there appeared to be absolutely no hope for me.

In August, 1910, I left Phoenix and went to the Pacific Coast, after a thorough examination by Dr. Monical of Phoenix, who pronounced me in an advanced stage of Tuberculosis; in Los Angeles, California, I underwent a thorough examination by Dr. C. L. McClish, 1760 West Adams Street. His report shows consolidation in the apices of both lungs, and that the disease was in an advanced stage. I was unable to attend to any work and had been for several months.

It was about this time that my attention was called to the TUBERCLECID treatment, which I commenced using on August 22, 1910. At that time my cough was very severe and a report by R. B. Durfee, City Bacteriologist, of Los Angeles, showed "many Tubercle Bacilli" present in my sputum; my first three reports made about thirty days apart by the same authority showed "many Tubercle Bacilli," though during the second month's treatment I began to feel stronger and my cough had decreased somewhat in intensity. After five months' use of the treatment, or in January, 1911, I had regained my normal voice and had increased my weight about fourteen pounds. In the latter part of the month of January, I commenced to do light work after a period of more than seven months, in which I had been unable to do anything. By the first of May, I was able to resume hard manual labor as construction worker in the building of houses and from that time to this day I have not lost an hour and have remained well and strong and now weigh 173 pounds.

I am entirely free from cough and have been for nearly three months and my last bacteriological test made by Dr. Durfee of the Los Angeles Board of Health, on May 5, 1911, shows "No Tubercle Bacilli." I have recommended and do not now hesitate to recommend the TUBERCLECID treatment to all sufferers of the dreadful white plague, and sincerely hope that in making public the result of the use of it in my case, it will be the means of saving many lives. If I could be cured in my dreadful condition, as I have been, then there is certainly hope for any case of Tuberculosis where the patient has the vitality to live the required three or four months for the treatment to become effective, and who will use the treatment with patience and perseverance and according to instructions.

Tuberculosis is a lingering disease and the patient suffering from it who expects to be cured in the course of two or three months' treatment is doomed to disappointment. Some cases appear to yield more readily than others, but I am certainly more than satisfied to find myself a well man one year after commencing the use of the treatment, although I only used it for a period of seven consecutive months. I have tested the permanency of the cure with five months of hard manual labor and feel as well today as at any time in my life, and have no hesitation whatever in recommending TUBERCLECID in any known case of Tuberculosis.

Very faithfully yours,

LEROY M. TAYLOR.

5th St., Bet. Jackson and Madison.

(Notarial Seal.)

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 26th day of August, 1911.

My commission expires December 30, 1914.

RUTH F. BURKE, Notary Public.

NOTABLE GATHERING OF MEMBERS OF THE MASONIC FRATERNITY

Magnificent New Temple Will Be Dedicated Tonight: The Grand Lodge in Session Today; Royal Arch Masons Will Meet Thursday; and the Order of Eastern Star Will Have Sessions Thursday and Friday; Many Visiting Brethren Are in Albuquerque for the Memorable Exercises and Sessions.

Gathered from all over the jurisdiction on New Mexico today are hundreds of Masons in 1911 to its all previous notable gathering of the order that has ever been held in Albuquerque, for on this occasion, Temple Lodge, No. 3, A. F. & A. M., which has been in existence under a charter for thirty-one years, will dedicate its new temple, which is dedicated to far outstrip the three Masonic temples which have preceded it in this city.

For the first time the grand lodge is to meet in Albuquerque in a building, aside from its long and imposing structure in its temple city, to be a worthy refuge for that august body. And the result thereof is due to Temple Lodge, and to the men who have made such a building a fact in their steady, patient and constant endeavor.

Many Masons have come from the distant corners of the state to attend this significant session of the superior body and to do honor to their brethren of Temple Lodge. Preparations for their entertainment and for their comfort and convenience while here, have had the same careful consideration as that which in larger scope designed and built the new home for Masonry.

Sessions Commence This Morning. Grand Master E. L. Medler called the grand lodge to order, and after the transaction of a small amount of routine business, an announcement was taken until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when real business was taken up and dispatched. The sessions are being held in the smaller lodge room of the temple, which though not so large as the great lodge room, is ample for the grand lodge and proves the care with which the temple was destined. Besides the visiting brethren from other jurisdictions, there are several distinguished members of the fraternity who will come from other parts of the country.

Dedication Tonight. The dedication of the building will be the principal order of business tonight. On account of the knowledge that the Grand Lodge was to hold its communication here, the dedication ceremonies were put off until this time when the grand master, E. L. Medler, himself a member of Temple Lodge, might officiate at that occasion.

An attractive and interesting program has been arranged, and all Masons are expected to attend. The exercises will be for Masons alone, no ladies being admitted. The program includes the following:

Opening of Blue Lodge. Receiving the grand master. Opening of the grand lodge.

Selection to the Mandolin club, composed by Brothers C. A. Wright, Carl Davidson, and Charles Chadwick.

Address of Welcome and Reading of the Charter Member List by Brother E. S. Stover.

Tenor Solo by Brother J. G. Gould.

Dedication ceremonies in charge of the Most Worshipful Grand Master, Edward L. Medler.

Piano solo—Value in E. (Moskowsky), by Stanley Reddy.

Address—"The Influence of Masonry in the Community," by Brother J. A. Miller.

Informal Addresses.

Bass solo, by Brother T. Y. Maynard.

Selection to the Mandolin club, Brother Charles A. Frank, accompanied.

MAGNIFICENT MASONIC TEMPLE IN ALBUQUERQUE, TO BE DEDICATED WITH ELABORATE CEREMONIES TONIGHT.

It is confidently held that the dedication of the list of charter members should be performed by tomorrow evening, E. S. Stover, for in it one of the very few who are left alive of the first. The list is as follows:

William R. Childers, Alexander McKay Whitcomb, E. S. Stover, Joseph H. Kahle, H. Meyer, William Foreport, William Henry Taylor, W. P. Crane, Rufus C. Yarn, John T. Hodge.

History of Lodge. Temple Lodge was first organized when the charter list of members as given above in 1880, when on November 11, a dispensation was granted.

The lodge was at that time housed in a small adobe building, and as it grew the need for better quarters was at once felt. In the same year, construction was commenced, and on Oct. 4, the corner stone of a new temple was laid with appropriate ceremonies.

On January 17, just one day less than a year after the charter had been granted, the building was dedicated.

In 1895, natural growth made its second appeal for more room, and another structure was commenced, the cornerstone being laid on June 8. On October 5, it was dedicated by the grand lodge, and served as a home for the Masonic bodies of the city until last year when the present splendid structure was erected.

In keeping with the request of the lodge, this committee, in the latter part of January, A. D. 1910, let the contract for the erecting of the new Masonic Temple, and on the 13th day of March, A. D. 1910, the workmen started to excavate preparatory to putting in the foundation.

Under the able management and supervision of this committee and W. W. Strong, who was appointed superintendent of construction, the work on the new building rapidly progressed.

ed, and on the second day of August, A. D. 1910, all was in readiness for the laying of the foundation stone of this new Masonic house.

Most Worshipful Grand Master Frank Johnson, at the request of Temple Lodge, assembled the Grand Lodge of New Mexico on the above date for this purpose, and proceeded to the site of the new building where the cornerstone was laid with appropriate ceremonies, after which the lodge returned and returned to the lodge room where they listened to a very beautiful and appropriate address by Secretary J. A. Miller.

Too much credit cannot be given the members of this committee who have labored long and diligently to complete this new Masonic temple, which is one of the most beautiful fraternal edifices in the great southwest. It is of the finest Doric style of architecture, and its cost was approximately $75,000.

Masonic Home to Come Up. The business which will come before the grand lodge at this communication is large in amount and important in character. It is quite likely that some decisive action will be taken in regard to the establishment of a Masonic home, so it is understood the committee appointed on this question at the last communication has a report to present.

The Grand Commandery of Knights Templars will be held Friday and will occupy all the day.

Thursday and Friday, the Order of the Eastern Star, a body of Masons, their wives and daughters, will hold its sessions in the temple, probably in the large lodge room. The presence of the Eastern Star is expected to attend, as well as the grand officers of the New Mexico jurisdiction.
